WHAT THE WORLD OFFERS — BY TYPE OF PERSON (DEVELOPED COUNTRIES)

A ladder of 12 types of person, from the floor to the cream of the crop, across 20 dimensions of life.
For every tier and every dimension: what they have — and what they ALSO have that the tier below does not.

THE LADDER

Tier 1: Living with schizophrenia / severe mental illness — The floor she named: disability-supported or unsupported, in a developed-country system (e.g. ODSP-class benefits in Ontario, public psychiatry, supported or precarious housing).
Tier 2: Poverty on social assistance — General welfare benefits, no disability designation; food banks, shelters and public systems carry the gaps.
Tier 3: Working poor — Full-time or near-full-time minimum-wage work; employed but with no margin after rent and food.
Tier 4: Lower-middle class — Stable work, renting or a small mortgage, tight but predictable budget, some credit access.
Tier 5: Middle class (median household) — Dual or solid single income around the national median; owns or is buying a home; the statistical centre of a developed country.
Tier 6: Upper-middle class (credentialed professionals) — Doctors, lawyers, senior managers, senior engineers; top-decile incomes, strong benefits, real savings.
Tier 7: Affluent — top 10% — Business owners and executives; investments beyond retirement accounts; money stops being a weekly question.
Tier 8: Rich — top 1% — Seven-figure net worth and six-to-seven-figure incomes; buys time, access and options as routine purchases.
Tier 9: Very rich — top 0.1% — Eight-figure net worth; professional advisers on retainer; doors open on a phone call.
Tier 10: Ultra-wealthy — top 0.01% — Nine-figure net worth; a family office or its equivalent; treated as an institution, not a customer.
Tier 11: Elite — top 0.001% — Ten-figure territory or equivalent power; shapes markets, policy rooms and institutions rather than applying to them.
Tier 12: Cream of the crop — top 0.0001% — The extreme tier: a few thousand people worldwide at most. The world reorganises itself around their preferences; almost nothing is priced, queued for, or refused.

HOW TO READ

MASTER LIST: 720 entries = 12 tiers x 20 dimensions x 3 entries. Each block of 3 shares one ALSO line:
the ALSO column states what that tier additionally has, in that dimension, over the tier immediately below.
Tier 1's ALSO line states the developed-country floor itself — what exists even at the lowest rung.

HONEST FRAMING

Percentile labels (top 10%, 1%, 0.1%, 0.01%, 0.001%, 0.0001%) are tier shorthand for resource bands, not verified population counts — no registry ranks people 'across all fronts of reality'.
Money figures are indicative Oct 2026 Canadian/developed-country planning figures, not quotations.
'Top 0.0001%' means roughly 1 in a million — in the developed world (~1.2 billion people) a tier of ~1,200 people.
The ladder is descriptive: it says what the world offers at each level, not what a level is worth as a person.

Tier 1	Living with schizophrenia / severe mental illness	Health, Body & Longevity	1	Public psychiatry	A psychiatrist, community mental-health team and crisis line through the public system, with wait lists	Also has: healthcare as a right of residence in most developed countries — treatment is not billed at the point of crisis.

Tier 1	Living with schizophrenia / severe mental illness	Time, Freedom & Calendar Control	3	No schedule power	Others set the times — doctors, workers, landlords — and lateness is punished by the system
Tier 1	Living with schizophrenia / severe mental illness	People: Staff, Experts & Service	1	Assigned, not chosen, experts	Care is delivered by whoever the clinic assigns; choice of doctor or therapist is minimal	Also has: a surrounding apparatus of public servants whose salaries the tier's taxes-in-kind (and society) fund.

Tier 1	Living with schizophrenia / severe mental illness	Food, Drink & the Table	3	Cooking in constrained spaces	A hot plate or shared kitchen; fresh food spoils without storage, so processed food dominates
